

Our Internationalization Pathway at FHWien der WKW

Together with Lauder Business School, FHWien der WKW won funding from the City of Vienna, to help internationalize their teaching. The project is entitled “Internationalization@home relaunched - teaching and learning in a professional, contemporary and cosmopolitan context” and focuses both on a greater integration between local and international students and teaching staff, and offers targeted training courses for teaching staff. The project concentrates on three areas:

1. Further increasing the quality and scope of elective courses in International Management, to make them more attractive for both local and international students
2. Organizing workshops and events for international lecturers and local teaching staff from FHWien der WKW and Lauder Business School (LBS) to meet with one another.
3. Targeted training measures promoting internationalization, the first of which is the “English Language Café”, a low-threshold drop-in class for staff to practice speaking in English.

The overall objective of the project is to internationalize teaching at FHWien der WKW and LBS in a professional manner based on contemporary teaching methods.
